HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 30th, 1897.

MR. OTTOMAR HAUST, who writes the Paris

letter for the Financial Times, takes a gloomy, but, we fear, not too gloomy a view of the future of silver. The days of silver, Mr. HAUPT says, are numbered the price of the metal may recover, it is true, but no one who has made the question at issue his special study will credit it with the powers of forming the basis of any well-regulated monetary system. Believing as we do in the scientific soundness of the bimetallic theory, we are nevertheless constrained to acknowledge that Mr. HXUPF is right as a matter of fact and that, silver having been kicked out of doors by all the leading nations, the metal can no longer form the basis of any well regulated monetary system. It is useless now to speculate on what might have different policy; we have to deal with accomplished facts, and the practical question for us in Hongkong is whether our interests would not be best served by boldly mittee of the Chamber of Commerce has quite recently answered that question in the negative, holding that the colony is commercially so closely allied with China that it could not safely break away from her on the currency question. We believe, however, that there is considerable wavering on the subject amongst the are rentile community, and that the mawer recently returned by the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce to the Sugapore | been lost, the present values are still at Glasgow Chamber was founded more on the principle 3d. per ton and at Middlesbrough 1s. per ton that it is safer on the part of a public body not to commit itself premuturely to a de- decreasing, and shipments from Middlesbrough charation in favour of fundamental changes than on any strong conviction in the minds of the members. It seems to us that the change of standard will sooner or later become inevitable and that it resolves itself merely into a question of whether Hongkong will lead or follow China in the matter, whether it will play the port of the head or the tail. Already prnetically the whole of the foreign trude of China is done on a sterling basis, exchange being fixed with every contract that is entered into. That fixing of exchange is a cumbrous and unbusiness-like arrangement that cannot contimue indefinitely, but must inevitably be exchanged for the simpler one of an actual currency corresponding to that which forms; the basis on which transactions are entered into. If the standard coin of Hongkong were a gold dollar it would be accepted as the standard at all the treaty ports, prices in all contracts being fixed in Hongkong dollars instead of, as at present, silver Blend and Watson's Glenorchy are equal to dollars or thels at a sterling exchange specially arranged in connection with each transaction. As to the official standard of China, people are rather inclined to scout than half the whole. British India and France the idea of change being within mensurable distance. If it be true that allver has lost the power of forming the basis of any well regulated monetary system, and if it be also true that the absence of a well regulated monetary system is prejudicial to a country's commercial prosperity, it follows that the best thing Hongkong or any other colony or country can do is to fall into line with the rest of the world and adopt a currency that will receive universal acknowledgment as a measure of values in commercial transactions. Copper and tin, after advancing in the early part of the mouth, have given way again, and are at present easing slowly. Spelter has been ruling steady, and lead has advanced strongly and is very firm.

The remarkable growth in the industry and trade in sewing needles in Gormany is described by the United States Consul at Annaberg in a recent report. Formerly Great Britain supplied Germany with needles, but the industry has during the past few years developed to such an extent in Germany that it is not only able to compete with that of Great Britain in foreign markets and those of the British colonies, but in Great Britain itself. The chief souts of the industry are Aix-in-Chapelle, Burtscheid, Langlohn, Altena, Nuremberg, and Schwalbach. The Air factories alone produce fifty millions of needles weekly. The enormous growth in the export of needles from Germany since 1880 is principally due to the export trade to China, where Germany seems to control the market. More than 60 per cont, of the export last year went to China, and between 1890 and 1895 more come next in importance. At first, in making their needles, the Germans imitated British of the English machinery, and they adopted new and improved devices and followed their own course of manufacture. The Hanol Chamber of Commerce is petitioning against the construction of the proposed railway from Lungohow to Nanning, on the ground that instead of banefiting Tonkin it would dieret traffic from that country to the West River route and so benefit Hongkong. Our Franch neighbours have been a long time in becoming alive to that rather self-evident fact. In the course of the petition the following is quoted as the view of the Chinese mandarius :- "How blind your diplomacy is! You chiam for your good offices towards us routes of penetration into our country. We are going to bear the expense solely to be agreeable to you; we have no need of these lines; and you choose those which will only serve the English."

The budget of Indo-China for next year we learn, to be made up in francs, instead dollars, and all payments to the Government on revenue account will have to be made at the exchange rate of the day. The expediency of adopting the gold standard for the colony under consideration, but no decision has yet been arrived at. Meantime the public finances are in a bad way. The Courrier d'Haiphond says :-- Before returning to Tonkin to spend some time with his family the Governor-General (who is at present at Saigon or on tour in the neighbourhood) is to go to Hongkong, According to good information which has reached us, the principal object of visit is to enable M. Donmer to make to the English banks propositions, which we must suppose are judicious, with reference to a financial combination which if it is brought about will deliver us from the deadlock to which the whole of Indo-China has been brought in consequence of the enormous depreciation of the dollar. We hope we may be false prophets but we greatly fear that this movement of the Governor-General will resolve itself simply into s pleasure trin. We here that M. Donner may find nothing disagreeable in it.

SUPREME COURT

20ia September. IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

BEFORE SIR JOHN CARRINGTON (CHIEP JUSTICE);

IP PINN EWAG V. CHOY TAI SHAL .-Plaintiff sought to recover $2,000 on promissory note. Mr. J. J. Francis, Q.C. (instructed by Mr. . H. Deacon), appeared for the plaintiff and r. E. Robinson (instructed by Messra, Johnson, Stokes, and Master) for the defendant, Mr. Francis in opening the case, read the pleadings. The petition stated that the plaintiff was an assistant compradore residing Hongkong. On or about 5th September, 96. Chor Chu, now deceased, but then carry ing on business and residing at 243. Praya lest, by his promissory note made on 5th Saptember, 1896, promised to pay to the plaintiff the sum of $2,000 with interest thereon at the rate of 12 per cent, per annum. The sum of $1,000 with the interest was due on the 1st February, 1897, and the remaining $1,000 would be due on the 31st January, 1898. Choy Chu died on the 11th November, 18:8, leaving esets more than sufficient to meet all liabilities. Defendant was his widow and she took out letters of administration in the probate division of the Court. She had refused to pay the plaintiff the money due on the promissory note or any part thereof. The defendant in her consver said she had no personal knowledge of the occupation and residence of the plaintiff and sho denied that Choy Chu made the promissory note alleged to have been made by him. Counsel said the issues were therefore very simple, the only defence raised being that the note was not made by Choy Chu;

After some evidence had been given the case was adjourned until this morning.

Really some of the policemen and some military officers are themselves robbers and some military officers are willing to accept bribes from the criminals. Sometimes robberies are committed under the very eyes of the soldiers and policemen, who pretend to be deaf and blind, so that the robbers often get away scot free. On the 24th September a junk towed by a steam launch running between Canton and Chatham was robbed at Kiang-mun in front of a likin station, while near by lay a guard boat at anchor which was expecially placed there by the Government for the protection of passing boats. When the robbery occurred. the people of the junk shouted out loudly for assistance, but no one aither from the liking station or the guard-beat came forward to effect the capture of the robbers, who all safely got away with their spoils. On the evening of the 24th another junk towed by a steam-launch and laden with a large cargo of raw silk was robbed at the place named Yung-ki in Suntak district Some well dressed robbers got on board the junk as passengers. When the junk was sailing near Yaug-ki, a robber went to the bow of the junk and fell intentionally into the water under the pretence of carelessness. The other robbers on board then forced the muster to stop and pick up the man in the water, the junk stopped, a long boat with a number of robbers rowed out to her. When all the rob. bers got on board the junk, they forced tho coxswain of the steam-launch towing the junk
